Goodbye jumps on wagon (Just in case) ~Astra~

I don't really know how to start this off. I have a lot of things I would like to say. First off, thank you all for sticking with me. I know at times I was annoying and loud, just to name a few, and I appreciate (even if you don't think so) each and everyone of you. I wish I could give you all a goodbye hugs, but of course I can't, because this is just words on a screen. Even still, please have a online hug-tackle (yes I just wrote that) from me :). I cannot believe how much I've grown personally while on here. I started at nothing, and now I (finally) got up the courage to post my very first forumfic. Back when I first started, there is absolutely no way I would have the strength to post something of mine out there to be reviewed by anyone and everyone who sees it. Thank you so very much for helping me come out of my personal bubble and making me see that everyone has a story, and that (hopefully XD unless you're a robot) there is a real and very much alive person behind the screen.

~Dazzle - I don't even know if you're still active anymore, but if you read this thank you so very much. You are the one who really helped me get out of my 'I'm new and very annoying' phase, and helped me see how everything works, even though you may think you didn't. I wish I could have known you better. Also, thank you for helping me see things differently. Before I interacted with you I really didn't know anyone, and even those I did know weren't really my 'friends'. You are a good person. Goodbye. I will miss you very, very much my friend. :(~Astra

~Fallon - Thank you so much for first accepting me, and talking to me even when I was 'new' and very much annoying. I didn't know how anything worked, and I didn't know how to act or respond or make any friends or get to know people on here. Thank you from the depths of my heart, because without you, and before this, I was just my normal sad self. You were always so kind and funny even though I really didn't deserve it, and your humour has always brightened my day. Thank you for talking to me and, even though you might not consider us 'friends', I still remember those first days where I knew nothing and nobody, and you started talking to me and my whole life changed. For the better. Please never stop smiling. Goodbye. I will miss you very much. ~Astra

~Paradox - Thank you for letting me into your roleplay SAM. (I still remember it to this day.) That was really when I started learning about how basic things worked around here, and you were so nice. (For some reason, I remember this: Even though you said detailed personality on the forms, I put two sentances, and you let me in. To this day, I do not know why you did that, but thank you very much for doing it because everything changed for me when you did.) I started to learn the basics of life around the forums, and what to do. Thank you for talking to me when no one else really would, and thank you for being so kind even though I really didn't deserve it. Please, never stop making me laugh. I will miss you hugely, my friend. Goodbye. ~Astra

~Vamporizer - First off, thank you so much for saying that one thing (I can't find the thread number but,) it was when you called me and Dazzle ((I think(?)) you're pretty much best friends around here and to this day that still warms my heart very much. In fact, do you happen to know the thread number? I kind of want to save it. Anyways, thank you so much for saying that. Your words changed my day, and they still do. Thank you for being such a nice, kind, funny friend to me all this time. You changed my life in these mere months for the better. I don't really know how to explain it, you just...were there for me whenever I needed someone to talk to or rant to, and I really don't know how you put up with it. I will miss you very much. Please, never stop making me laugh. Goodbye. ~Astra

Okay, more will be coming in soon (hopefully) because I don't want to overwhelm Phil. (Oh jeez, writing this made me tear up :( )
